Role: Asset Manager, GMG Real Estate, Geneva, Switzerland

You have a 'hands-on' mindset and are excited to join a small, fast-paced entrepreneurial team in our Geneva office. You have between 5 and 7 years' experience working as a real estate asset or project manager within a corporate property team or property company based in Geneva.

You preferably have an Engineering background, possibly also a CFA qualification. You understand the real estate industry of Switzerland across different sectors and investment types and have management experience in the construction and development environment. You have experience in financial investment analysis and you are fluent in both French and English.

We want you to:

- Manage an industrial development site in Geneva
- Co-ordinate the usual third-party advisors like architect and design teams, construction teams, facility management teams, legal advisors and accountants
- Take the lead in leasing activities
- Build strong tenant relationships
- Prepare business plans, financial reports etc for shareholders
- Identify new opportunities and lead the due diligence process
- Co-ordinate with our other real estate offices (UK & Portugal)
- You will report to the MD, GMG Real Estate

We encourage our people to be brilliant at what they do. We inspire and support them to challenge convention and create smart solutions. We celebrate success, grow careers and win as a team. Our leaders are collaborative and approachable. We've earned our reputation and know where we're going. Want to join us?
